UNIT PLAN (Resource Unit) for Teaching Safety

TOPIC AREA	SKILLS	KNOWLEDGE	ATTITUDE	CONTENT	METHODS/ STRATEGIES	EVALUATION	AREAS OF INTEGRATION	VOCABULARY
SAFETY	To develop safety rules and regulations; Use these rules to help protect themselves and others; Use a First Aid Kit	Awareness and necessity of microbiological rules; Awareness of hazards that exist in lab; Decontamination of clinical specimens to render them safe for disposal To know what to do when accidents happen	Sharing ideas Self respect, respect for others, respect for microorganisms Responsibility	Types of hazards including fire, corrosive, poisonous, chemicals; Classifying pathogens according to their risk, Routes of transmission; Design of building and provision of appropriate equipment for maximum safety; Decontamination procedures	Group discussion to develop rules; Design a safety poster: Group presentation on lab design for maximum safety; Observation of First Aid Kit use of its contents Demonstration of fire extinguisher Demonstration of autoclave	Test knowledge of safety rules and why they are necessary; Observation of safety equipment present in the room in which they occupy; Quiz on and observe safety techniques during lab time.	Chemistry, Anatomy and Physiology, Health Education	